

THE LIFE AND TIMES OF BOOZY FOODIE

Food, Wine + Everything Fine

FOODIE AND BOOZY NEWS

Humble Heritage Crops Impress Foodies at New Culinary Competition #News

Make your Easter sparkle with gorgeous KWV bubbly cocktails #News

Savour the hues and tastes of autumn with Steenberg Nebbiolo #WineNews

Nederburg's Samuel Viljoen on Reaching Top 100 List: Not Me Alone

Black-Owned Wine Brands Boost South Africa in New York #News

Cape Town's Sugarbird Craft Gin, spreads its wings to brandy (Boozy News)

Best known for its quality fynbos gin, Sugarbird has negotiated access to aged barrels of potstill brandy from one of the world's finest, award-winning distilleries – right here in South Africa.

Chenin Blanc and Colombard grapes, grown in the Bredekloof region, provide the distillate that is carefully aged in small French Oak barrels, for 14 years. Ultimately, once the ageing process has completed, this delicate liquid is trickle-filtered through honeybush and other fynbos botanicals by Sugarbird's Artisan Blender, Edmund Paulsen, who says; "this adds a very subtle character to one of the finest 'Cognacs' around." Finally, a little squeeze of fynbos honey gives it a natural smooth nuttiness.

Sugarbird's MD, Matt Bresler, says: "Our initial focus was on creating a gin, differentiated by its locally-sourced ingredients. We feel we have done this to popular acclaim – recently winning Best South African gin in the 2021 Luxury Lifestyle Awards. As a result, we decided to try our hand at brandy: a product with a rich South African heritage. The Cape Floral Kingdom is on our doorstep – it is by far the smallest, but richest of the world's six floral kingdoms, in terms of plant and flower diversity. It has given us a wealth of flavour profiles, first used in our gin, where it found harmony between floral and citrus notes, and now, in our potstill brandy.”

With a nose of sweet prune, dark chocolate and vanilla that follows through on the palate, the Sugarbird XO 14 Year Old is a great choice for sipping around the fire, either neat, or with a block of ice.

“South African brandy is the unsung hero of the spirit world,” according to Cape Wine Master, Winnie

Bowman. But now – there is Sugarbird XO 14 Year Old Potstill – presented in a quality heavy glass bottle, strikingly labelled, with understated elegance.

Sugarbird XO is available at a RRP of R449.95 from Takealot, SmousOnline, and selected retailers.

With this XO Brandy, Sugarbird hopes to pay tribute to our unique South African distilling traditions, whilst proudly celebrating our vibrant and diverse country.

Follow Sugarbird Distillery on

FB: <https://www.facebook.com/Sugarbirddistil>

TW: <https://twitter.com/Sugarbirddistil>

IG: https://www.instagram.com/sugarbird_distillery/

WEB: <https://www.sugarbirddistillery.com/>

Images and info provided

PREVIOUS POST

NEXT POST

Join South Africa's International #SauvBlancDay Celebrations

A new dawn for Stellenzicht Wines \(Wine News\)

Leave a Reply

Your email address will not be published. Required fields are marked *

 Comment

 Name*

 Email*

 Website

Save my name, email, and site URL in my browser for next time I post a comment.

Post Comment

RECENT POSTS

Sipping The Pogues Irish Whiskey

#OpenThatBottleNight with Roodeberg #OpenThatRoodeberg

Sipping The Cape Town Gin & Spirits Company's Black Rhino Gin

Nkuli, Bacardi Ambassador chats with BoozyFoodie about Craigellachie Whisky.

Brown Rice and Lentil Pilaf